

To our Valued Paragon Clients,

It goes without saying that these are unprecedented and difficult times for everyone.

While many are in self-isolation and responsibly practising social distancing, front-line workers are the unsung heroes and are dealing directly with the pandemic.

Our thoughts are with all front-line workers, as they continue to demonstrate the strength of their resolve to protect themselves while generously ensuring the health and safety of others.

Paragon staff, who have been deemed essential workers, are heroes in their own accord.

Our organization is working tirelessly to support our team of front-line workers as they strive to protect and maintain the safety of workers and visitors to your properties. Everyday we hear stories of the courage demonstrated by our respective teams who have joined forces to combat COVID-19, and we are inspired.

Please join us as we thank members of both of our teams:

Thanks go to our teammates who agree to work on the front line.

Thanks go to our teammates who are working hard to schedule and staff the front line.

Thanks go to our teammates who are working to secure and distribute urgently needed supplies of personal protection equipment.

Thanks go to our Dispatch, Mobile Supervisors, Trainers, Human Resources, and Operations team members for ensuring we meet our obligations to our employees and clients.

I am proud to be working with my colleagues and appreciate your commitment and partnership with Paragon Security. I am confident that together we will overcome these trying times.

Stay safe.

Kevin Sanjari
